This is but a taste of what this site will be when it is more developed. In fact, it will change completely by the time we have some content built. The template is completely customizable and can be changed at the click of a button. Once we have decided on the domain name, I will register it and move the site to its permanent location. In the meantime, please cast your vote for the name. If you don't see what you like on the poll, select none of the above and add your suggestion to the guestbook.

I have been testing some features of the site and have put up Alfred's page of forum links, smiley shortcuts and markup language. View it by clicking here and on the menu on the left titled "User Pages".

I look forward to getting some feedback so this site can be designed from the ground up based on the community needs.
